

Bills Propose New State Out Of Greater City

One Measure Takes In All Boroughs, Long Island and Westchester, Another Adds Northern Counties

Socialists Not Assigned

Five Suspended Members Are Left Off Committees; Roosevelt Is on Three

ALBANY, Jan. 12.—The State of New York, composed of the counties of Albany, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Hamilton, Dutchess, Sullivan, Ulster, Westchester, Putnam, Orange, Ulster, Greene and Sullivan.

Assemblyman Lanning, Democrat, of Queens, introduced a bill designed to create a State of Greater New York. This is a more ambitious plan than that of Mr. Cuyler, as it not only includes all the counties in the proposed State of Manhattan, but would contain in addition the counties of Putnam, Westchester, Richmond, Orange, Ulster, Greene and Sullivan.

Assemblyman Bloch, of New York City, introduced a bill designed to establish a bureau of milk regulation in the State Department of Food and Markets.

Miss Margaret L. Smith, the only woman republican member of the Assembly, introduced her first bill. This calls for empowering the Victory Hall Association to acquire by condemnation proceedings the property known as the Victory Hall, located at the site of a memorial and civic hall and auditorium.

A bill amending the workmen's compensation law to include occupational diseases and injuries within the definition of "compensable injury" was put in by Minority Leader Donohue.

Assemblyman Trahan, Republican, of Westchester, introduced a measure moving for the appropriation of $5,000,000 as a state fund for former service men and their relatives.

Senator Charles W. Walton, of Ulster County, introduced a measure drafted on recommendation of Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of State Troops, to check auto thefts and the sale of stolen cars.

The plan, which has been introduced by the New York State Automobile Association, requires that a bill of sale must accompany every sale or transfer of a motor car, and that both parties in the transaction must be identified by the local police. This certificate must be carried without it while operating an automobile to constitute a felony.

Biggs and Pilsner Confirmed

Governor Smith nominated Dr. Herman M. Biggs as State Health Commissioner and Lewis F. Pilsner as State Architect. The Senate confirmed both at once. The Governor also appointed to vacancies in the State Revenue Commission James W. Wadsworth, Henry F. Sinclair, of New York, and George W. Loft, of Baldwin.

Recess appointments sent to the Senate for confirmation of Wadsworth and Pilsner were referred to the Finance Committee.

Assemblyman Lanning, Democrat, of Queens, introduced a bill designed to create a State of Greater New York. This is a more ambitious plan than that of Mr. Cuyler, as it not only includes all the counties in the proposed State of Manhattan, but would contain in addition the counties of Putnam, Westchester, Richmond, Orange, Ulster, Greene and Sullivan.

Assemblyman Bloch, of New York City, introduced a bill designed to establish a bureau of milk regulation in the State Department of Food and Markets.

Miss Margaret L. Smith, the only woman republican member of the Assembly, introduced her first bill. This calls for empowering the Victory Hall Association to acquire by condemnation proceedings the property known as the Victory Hall, located at the site of a memorial and civic hall and auditorium.

A bill amending the workmen's compensation law to include occupational diseases and injuries within the definition of "compensable injury" was put in by Minority Leader Donohue.

Assemblyman Trahan, Republican, of Westchester, introduced a measure moving for the appropriation of $5,000,000 as a state fund for former service men and their relatives.

Senator Charles W. Walton, of Ulster County, introduced a measure drafted on recommendation of Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of State Troops, to check auto thefts and the sale of stolen cars.

The plan, which has been introduced by the New York State Automobile Association, requires that a bill of sale must accompany every sale or transfer of a motor car, and that both parties in the transaction must be identified by the local police. This certificate must be carried without it while operating an automobile to constitute a felony.

Biggs and Pilsner Confirmed

Governor Smith nominated Dr. Herman M. Biggs as State Health Commissioner and Lewis F. Pilsner as State Architect. The Senate confirmed both at once. The Governor also appointed to vacancies in the State Revenue Commission James W. Wadsworth, Henry F. Sinclair, of New York, and George W. Loft, of Baldwin.

Recess appointments sent to the Senate for confirmation of Wadsworth and Pilsner were referred to the Finance Committee.

Assemblyman Lanning, Democrat, of Queens, introduced a bill designed to create a State of Greater New York. This is a more ambitious plan than that of Mr. Cuyler, as it not only includes all the counties in the proposed State of Manhattan, but would contain in addition the counties of Putnam, Westchester, Richmond, Orange, Ulster, Greene and Sullivan.

Assemblyman Bloch, of New York City, introduced a bill designed to establish a bureau of milk regulation in the State Department of Food and Markets.

Miss Margaret L. Smith, the only woman republican member of the Assembly, introduced her first bill. This calls for empowering the Victory Hall Association to acquire by condemnation proceedings the property known as the Victory Hall, located at the site of a memorial and civic hall and auditorium.

A bill amending the workmen's compensation law to include occupational diseases and injuries within the definition of "compensable injury" was put in by Minority Leader Donohue.

Assemblyman Trahan, Republican, of Westchester, introduced a measure moving for the appropriation of $5,000,000 as a state fund for former service men and their relatives.

Senator Charles W. Walton, of Ulster County, introduced a measure drafted on recommendation of Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of State Troops, to check auto thefts and the sale of stolen cars.

The plan, which has been introduced by the New York State Automobile Association, requires that a bill of sale must accompany every sale or transfer of a motor car, and that both parties in the transaction must be identified by the local police. This certificate must be carried without it while operating an automobile to constitute a felony.

Biggs and Pilsner Confirmed

Governor Smith nominated Dr. Herman M. Biggs as State Health Commissioner and Lewis F. Pilsner as State Architect. The Senate confirmed both at once. The Governor also appointed to vacancies in the State Revenue Commission James W. Wadsworth, Henry F. Sinclair, of New York, and George W. Loft, of Baldwin.

Recess appointments sent to the Senate for confirmation of Wadsworth and Pilsner were referred to the Finance Committee.

Assemblyman Lanning, Democrat, of Queens, introduced a bill designed to create a State of Greater New York. This is a more ambitious plan than that of Mr. Cuyler, as it not only includes all the counties in the proposed State of Manhattan, but would contain in addition the counties of Putnam, Westchester, Richmond, Orange, Ulster, Greene and Sullivan.

Assemblyman Bloch, of New York City, introduced a bill designed to establish a bureau of milk regulation in the State Department of Food and Markets.

Miss Margaret L. Smith, the only woman republican member of the Assembly, introduced her first bill. This calls for empowering the Victory Hall Association to acquire by condemnation proceedings the property known as the Victory Hall, located at the site of a memorial and civic hall and auditorium.

A bill amending the workmen's compensation law to include occupational diseases and injuries within the definition of "compensable injury" was put in by Minority Leader Donohue.

mittee on Rules. The other members are Adair, of Monroe, majority leader; Nicholas, of Jefferson; Fearon, of Onondaga; and Blakely, of Westchester, Republicans, and Donohue, minority leader, of New York, and Taylor, of Kings, Democrats.

The chairman of the other committee are: General Laws, Parker, of Onondaga; Codes, Duke, of Albany; Clites, Fearon, of Onondaga; Agriculture, Witter, of Tioga; Internal Affairs, Wheeler, of Livingston; Railroads, Seaker, of St. Lawrence; Electricity, Gas and Water, Fenner, of Otsego; Insurance, Gardner, of Dutchess; Banks, Cheney, of Erie; Taxation and Retrenchment, Judson, of Monroe; Public Education, Talbot, of Madison; Public Health, Kenyon, of Essex; Villages, Blakely, of Westchester; Canals, Zimmerman, of Erie; Excise, Gage, of Wyoming; Labor and Industries, Brady, of Erie; Revision, Harris, of Monroe; Conservation, Everett, of St. Lawrence; Commerce and Navigation, Canfield, of Kings; Charitable and Religious Societies, Donohue, of Putnam; Penal Institutions, Hager, of Cayuga; Military Affairs, Wells, of Kings; Public Printer, Thayer, of Franklin; Claims, McWhinney, of Nassau; Public Institutions, Mead, of Orange; Soldiers' Home, Lord, of Chenango; Printed and Engraved Bills, Davies, of Herkimer; Social Welfare, Dobson, of Monroe; War, McGinnies, of Chautauque.

No Assignments to Socialists

The Socialists under suspension were given no committee assignments. Theodore Roosevelt, son of the former President, was assigned to three committees, Labor and Industries, Conservation, and War.

Miss Margaret L. Smith, Republican, New York, will serve on the Public Education, Public Health, and Welfare committees. Miss Elizabeth Van R. Gillette, Democrat, of Schenectady, was assigned to the committees on Labor and Industries, and Education.

Senator James W. Wadsworth, of Schenectady, was to-night appointed chairman of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, succeeding Ross G. Fernald, Republican, of Albany. Whitley, of Monroe, succeeds Senator Sylvester as chairman of the Committee on Canals, and Senator Seymour as chairman of the Committee on Printing, in place of Senator Whitley.

World Define "Intoxicating"

A bill designed to define as intoxicating all wines and similar liquors having more than 12 per cent alcohol and beer with an excess of 4 per cent was submitted by Senator Sutherland, of Kings.

Assemblyman Bloch, of New York City, introduced a bill designed to establish a bureau of milk regulation in the State Department of Food and Markets.

Miss Margaret L. Smith, the only woman republican member of the Assembly, introduced her first bill. This calls for empowering the Victory Hall Association to acquire by condemnation proceedings the property known as the Victory Hall, located at the site of a memorial and civic hall and auditorium.

A bill amending the workmen's compensation law to include occupational diseases and injuries within the definition of "compensable injury" was put in by Minority Leader Donohue.

Assemblyman Trahan, Republican, of Westchester, introduced a measure moving for the appropriation of $5,000,000 as a state fund for former service men and their relatives.

Senator Charles W. Walton, of Ulster County, introduced a measure drafted on recommendation of Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of State Troops, to check auto thefts and the sale of stolen cars.

The plan, which has been introduced by the New York State Automobile Association, requires that a bill of sale must accompany every sale or transfer of a motor car, and that both parties in the transaction must be identified by the local police. This certificate must be carried without it while operating an automobile to constitute a felony.

Biggs and Pilsner Confirmed

Governor Smith nominated Dr. Herman M. Biggs as State Health Commissioner and Lewis F. Pilsner as State Architect. The Senate confirmed both at once. The Governor also appointed to vacancies in the State Revenue Commission James W. Wadsworth, Henry F. Sinclair, of New York, and George W. Loft, of Baldwin.

Recess appointments sent to the Senate for confirmation of Wadsworth and Pilsner were referred to the Finance Committee.

Assemblyman Lanning, Democrat, of Queens, introduced a bill designed to create a State of Greater New York. This is a more ambitious plan than that of Mr. Cuyler, as it not only includes all the counties in the proposed State of Manhattan, but would contain in addition the counties of Putnam, Westchester, Richmond, Orange, Ulster, Greene and Sullivan.

Assemblyman Bloch, of New York City, introduced a bill designed to establish a bureau of milk regulation in the State Department of Food and Markets.

Miss Margaret L. Smith, the only woman republican member of the Assembly, introduced her first bill. This calls for empowering the Victory Hall Association to acquire by condemnation proceedings the property known as the Victory Hall, located at the site of a memorial and civic hall and auditorium.

A bill amending the workmen's compensation law to include occupational diseases and injuries within the definition of "compensable injury" was put in by Minority Leader Donohue.

Assemblyman Trahan, Republican, of Westchester, introduced a measure moving for the appropriation of $5,000,000 as a state fund for former service men and their relatives.

Senator Charles W. Walton, of Ulster County, introduced a measure drafted on recommendation of Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of State Troops, to check auto thefts and the sale of stolen cars.

The plan, which has been introduced by the New York State Automobile Association, requires that a bill of sale must accompany every sale or transfer of a motor car, and that both parties in the transaction must be identified by the local police. This certificate must be carried without it while operating an automobile to constitute a felony.

Biggs and Pilsner Confirmed

Governor Smith nominated Dr. Herman M. Biggs as State Health Commissioner and Lewis F. Pilsner as State Architect. The Senate confirmed both at once. The Governor also appointed to vacancies in the State Revenue Commission James W. Wadsworth, Henry F. Sinclair, of New York, and George W. Loft, of Baldwin.

Recess appointments sent to the Senate for confirmation of Wadsworth and Pilsner were referred to the Finance Committee.

Assemblyman Lanning, Democrat, of Queens, introduced a bill designed to create a State of Greater New York. This is a more ambitious plan than that of Mr. Cuyler, as it not only includes all the counties in the proposed State of Manhattan, but would contain in addition the counties of Putnam, Westchester, Richmond, Orange, Ulster, Greene and Sullivan.

Assemblyman Bloch, of New York City, introduced a bill designed to establish a bureau of milk regulation in the State Department of Food and Markets.

Miss Margaret L. Smith, the only woman republican member of the Assembly, introduced her first bill. This calls for empowering the Victory Hall Association to acquire by condemnation proceedings the property known as the Victory Hall, located at the site of a memorial and civic hall and auditorium.

A bill amending the workmen's compensation law to include occupational diseases and injuries within the definition of "compensable injury" was put in by Minority Leader Donohue.

Assemblyman Trahan, Republican, of Westchester, introduced a measure moving for the appropriation of $5,000,000 as a state fund for former service men and their relatives.

Senator Charles W. Walton, of Ulster County, introduced a measure drafted on recommendation of Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of State Troops, to check auto thefts and the sale of stolen cars.

The plan, which has been introduced by the New York State Automobile Association, requires that a bill of sale must accompany every sale or transfer of a motor car, and that both parties in the transaction must be identified by the local police. This certificate must be carried without it while operating an automobile to constitute a felony.

Biggs and Pilsner Confirmed

Governor Smith nominated Dr. Herman M. Biggs as State Health Commissioner and Lewis F. Pilsner as State Architect. The Senate confirmed both at once. The Governor also appointed to vacancies in the State Revenue Commission James W. Wadsworth, Henry F. Sinclair, of New York, and George W. Loft, of Baldwin.

Recess appointments sent to the Senate for confirmation of Wadsworth and Pilsner were referred to the Finance Committee.

Assemblyman Lanning, Democrat, of Queens, introduced a bill designed to create a State of Greater New York. This is a more ambitious plan than that of Mr. Cuyler, as it not only includes all the counties in the proposed State of Manhattan, but would contain in addition the counties of Putnam, Westchester, Richmond, Orange, Ulster, Greene and Sullivan.

Assemblyman Bloch, of New York City, introduced a bill designed to establish a bureau of milk regulation in the State Department of Food and Markets.

Miss Margaret L. Smith, the only woman republican member of the Assembly, introduced her first bill. This calls for empowering the Victory Hall Association to acquire by condemnation proceedings the property known as the Victory Hall, located at the site of a memorial and civic hall and auditorium.

A bill amending the workmen's compensation law to include occupational diseases and injuries within the definition of "compensable injury" was put in by Minority Leader Donohue.

Assemblyman Trahan, Republican, of Westchester, introduced a measure moving for the appropriation of $5,000,000 as a state fund for former service men and their relatives.

Senator Charles W. Walton, of Ulster County, introduced a measure drafted on recommendation of Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of State Troops, to check auto thefts and the sale of stolen cars.

The plan, which has been introduced by the New York State Automobile Association, requires that a bill of sale must accompany every sale or transfer of a motor car, and that both parties in the transaction must be identified by the local police. This certificate must be carried without it while operating an automobile to constitute a felony.

Biggs and Pilsner Confirmed

Governor Smith nominated Dr. Herman M. Biggs as State Health Commissioner and Lewis F. Pilsner as State Architect. The Senate confirmed both at once. The Governor also appointed to vacancies in the State Revenue Commission James W. Wadsworth, Henry F. Sinclair, of New York, and George W. Loft, of Baldwin.

Lowden Wants Government to Teach Thrift

Republican Presidential Possibility Tells Bankers Its Citizens Economy Example

Gets Cordial Reception

Union College Head Opposes Country Acting as Nurse to Swarm of Tiny Nations

Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, one of the Republican Presidential possibilities, declared last night at the twenty-second annual dinner of the Associated Banks of New York, at the Waldorf-Astoria, that the government should set an example to the citizen in frugality and thrift.

Walter E. Frew, the toastmaster, in introducing the Governor of Illinois, spoke of him as "being in the minds of thousands for greater responsibility." Governor Lowden was greeted with cordial applause.

One trouble with the government, he said, was that it was "all spending and no saving." He said that it was "all spending and no saving."

"The expenses of the government," he said, "have become so burdensome, that they influence every citizen's life. They have reached the point where private initiative is discouraged, where industrial progress is threatened and where future prosperity menaced. Waste and extravagance mark all expenditures, public and private. Economy is a despised and forgotten thing."

Homely Economy Needed

"There must be a return to homely, old-fashioned virtues if we would avert disaster. Where can we begin this return? The government should set an example as an employer. Why shouldn't it also set an example in thrift, in economy, in saving? Why shouldn't it also set an example in thrift, in economy, in saving?"

Duplication of effort in the government, both national and state, could be eliminated, Mr. Lowden said, with an increase in efficiency and a decrease in expenditures.

Dr. Charles Alexander Richmond, president of Union College, who spoke last, declared that half the people in the world scarcely knew to what nations they belonged, while the concert of powers had become "a kind of international jazz band."

In Illinois, he said, there were 125 counties, which when he went into office, which tended "naturally toward inefficiency and extravagance." All of these, he added, with the exception of the Public Utilities Civil Service and industrial commissions, were abolished when the people distributed their duties among the departments of Public Welfare, Public Health, Public Works and Buildings, Trade and Commerce, Labor, Education and Finance. Each department is headed by a director, who is assisted by an advisory committee, which serves without pay.

Budget System Success

The Director of Finance, he explained, prepares a budget of estimated expenditures and receipts to be submitted to each regular session of the General Assembly, which meets once in two years. In approving or approving vouchers he gathers information which will enable him intelligently to judge what appropriations should be.

The last budget thus submitted was passed with but a few changes.

"The new system," Governor Lowden said, "has been in operation now more than two years and in results has surpassed our expectations. We now have at the seat of government nine responsible heads of departments in daily touch with the Governor, who, therefore, can exercise a proper supervision over the affairs of the state; for each head of the department, in turn, is in constant touch with the activities of that department. Extravagance and incompetence are easily discovered and corrected."

"We have the new freedom, the new democracy, the new spirit, and the new order," said Dr. Richmond.

Old Liberties Gone

"But what do we find? We find that under the new freedom the government has taken away most of our old liberties and the labor unions are trying to take away the rest. We find that the new democracy is only Bolshevism without its whippersnappers, dressed in evening clothes or in clerical vestments or in academic cap and gown. The new democracy—open covenants openly arrived at—differs from the old democracy only in the fact that it is less open and less democratic. And the new order reveals itself as a water of disorder, where half the people in the world hardly know to what nation they belong and where the concert of powers has become a kind of international jazz band.

"What it may become does not yet appear, but what it is now we know. We feel justified in scrutinizing the conduct of every misbegotten politician, the apostles of this new gospel. There is one trouble with them all. They know too much. The effect upon my own mind is this—that I turn back with renewed reverence and renewed confidence to the fundamental facts and the ground principles which have guided our fathers in the past and upon which they built this solid structure of our national life."

United States No Political Midwife

"It should be our fixed policy to help strong nations strong. It is good morals as well as good policy to support those nations that have proved their right and their ability to bear their part in the work of the world. We should never encourage the breaking up of nations into insignificant principalities or weak so-called republics. I do not admit the claim that the United States should stand midwife to every misbegotten political monster that struggles to thrust its head into the world and assert its right among the full grown nations. We cannot make a strong community out of a collection of dwarfs and cripples and half-wits."

More Subway Trains Ordered on West Side

Nixon Acts on Complaint of the Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association

Acting on the complaint of the Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association, Public Service Commissioner Nixon yesterday ordered the Interborough Rapid Transit Company to improve its service on the West Side subway.

As a result of this order, which became effective next Monday, three extra local trains will be run during the rush hour between 5:30 and 6:30 p. m., and the ten-car express service will be extended for an extra hour during both the morning and evening rush periods.

Some of the residents of the West Side present at the hearing said the subway service on the third track of the subway between Ninety-sixth and 167th streets should be restored.

Line is used for storage purposes only, said George Keegan, assistant to Frank Hildebrand, president of the Interborough, who said his company would not consider this change unless ordered to do so by the commission.

Mr. Nixon adjourned the hearing until February 2, when he will discuss the feasibility of extending this service with the officials of the company.

For Paid Board of Education Bill Proposed Calls for Three Members at $12,000 Each

A bill providing for the elimination of the Board of Education and the appointment of a salary board of three members at $12,000 yearly each may be introduced in the Legislature, it was learned yesterday.

The present board of nine devotes only part of its time to school work, while the body that is supposed to do nothing else. Asked what he thought of a paid Board of Education, Mayor Hylan said:

"I think it ought to be a smaller paid board, the members of which would devote their entire attention to their duties."

Public Bus Kills Man

Hyman Lewis, forty-nine years old, a clothing manufacturer of 33 Norfolk Street, was killed yesterday when a privately-owned bus, operated by authority of Mayor Hylan, hit him at Delancey and Norfolk Streets, Peter Brasser, twenty-two, of 693 South Ninth Street, Newark, N. J., driver of the bus, was arrested by Patrolman Flick of the Police Department station on a charge of homicide. Magistrate Schwab in Essex Market Court held him under $15,000 bail for examination to-morrow.

Republican Party Landed in Address By Ogden L. Mills

Roosevelt Policies Compared With Wilson's at Club Meeting; Hays to Name Platform Makers

Ex-Senator Ogden L. Mills yesterday afternoon spoke on the history of the Republican party and what it stands for to a group of Republicans gathered in the third floor of the National Republican Club, in West Forty-third Street. Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, chairman of the Women's Committee of the Republican State Committee, presided.

In a peroration which caused a round of applause, Senator Mills said that the members of the Republican party were the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy.

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy."

"The Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy," he said, "is the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign policy, the Lincoln of the Democratic foreign